"You should have used a Daylo!"

WHEN you go poking into the back of a closet, into the corner of the attic, or down cellar—always use a Daylo for light. Then you won't have the great danger and discomfort of a fire like this.

You can't afford to take a chance on matches, candles or other flame light near inflammables. Always use a DAYLO—it goes anywhere safely.

Remember—the cost of one small fire is many times the price of a Daylo that guarantees safety.

THURSDAY IS NATIONAL FIRE AND ACCIDENT PREVENTION DAY

Do Your Share to Help Avoid Fires.

This is Daylo Safety First Week, in honor of National Fire and Accident Prevention Day, October 9. Daylo dealers everywhere are demonstrating the hundreds of uses of this handy light which mean safety insurance. Look for the Daylo "Safety First" medal design in the window of any of the dealers listed below—he'll fix you up with the Daylo you need.

Takes Away Child At Point Of Gun; Captured

How W. B. Mabe, farmer, of Haverhill, secured possession of his 2-year-old child at the point of a gun and escaped into West Virginia with the child Tuesday night, was revealed in police court this morning when Mabe was arraigned before Mayor Kaps on a charge of gun-toting.

Mabe and his wife have been separated since Sept. 15 last, when she and her child came to reside with her brother, Andrew G. Armbrister, grocer, at 1219 Lincoln street.

About dusk Tuesday evening Mabe showed up at the Armbrister home and asked to see the child for the last time, as he expected to leave. His request was granted, and upon the child being handed to him, after kissing and embracing the child, placed his left arm about her body, and with his right hand drew a pistol and backed from the room, all the time pointing the weapon at A. G. Armbrister, and declaring "I've got her," according to the testimony of Armbrister in court this morning.

Mabe disappeared with the child and it was later learned that he entered a taxi cab which was waiting around the corner and in the machine proceeded to Haverhill, where he crossed the Ohio river and took a C. & O. train for Charleston. He was arrested in the West Virginia capital yesterday and Sheriff Hickey brought the prisoner and child here this morning. The child was immediately restored to its anxious mother. After hearing the testimony of several witnesses Mayor Kaps reserved his decision until later, and in the meantime an examination as to the mental condition of the defendant will be made.

AUTO TURNS OVER

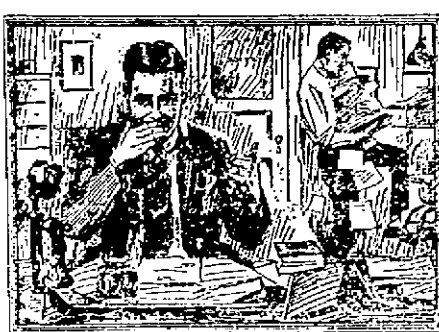

William Jennings, a young farmer, who lives near Harrisonville, was thrown out of a Ford machine when it left the road and turned over on the other side of the Harrisonville divide Wednesday afternoon. He suffered a cut over his right eye and his right wrist was sprained.

Jennings says his car left the road when he attempted to pass a big truck coming in an opposite direction. His machine was badly damaged.

The Markets

drawn toward steel shares at the opening of today's stock market because of yesterday's strong movement in that group. The first transaction in United States Steel followed 4500 shares at 110 to 109 7/8 followed by a small lot at 109 3/4, yesterday's final price. Bethlehem Steel soon lost its gain of one point and capped with a slight fractional advance. Oil and ship shares were in demand at substantial advances, also Baldwin Locomotive, United Cigars featured the specialties rising 8 points. Steels and equipments later extended their gains.

Announcement of the Goupers resolution before the industrial conference suggesting a way to settle the steel strike stimulated further buying. U. S. Steel continued to be taken in large lots, including one block of 10,000 shares at an extreme rise of a point. Other strong features included Harvester and Chemical and Fertilizer shares at gains of 2 to 3 points. Advances were largely cancelled later when reactionary tendencies developed in Cattle Steel, Baldwin Locomotive and Atlantic Gulf. These were neutralized, however, by the strength of General Motors, United Cigars, American Cigar and Motor and Leather specialties. Call money opened at 8 percent.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Prospects that weather might seriously interfere with the movement of corn from first hands had a bullish effect today on the corn market. Opening prices, which varied from the same as yesterday's finish to 1/2 higher, with December 12 1/2 to 12 3/4, were followed by moderate gains all round.

Building from exporters gave strength to oats. After opening, unchanged to 1/2 higher, including December at 70 1/2 to 71, the market continued to harden.

Provisions were weak as a result of lower quotations on hogs. Besides shipments of meats to New York were being hampered by the Longshore men's strike.

SLIP OF GIRL HELD CAPTIVE IN LONELY CABIN RESCUED BY SHERIFF; AN ARREST IS MADE

HUNTINGTON, Oct. 9.—The story of the journey of Sheriff Sam J. DeFord and his deputy, Sid Mills, of Bond county, Kentucky, and a posse of men from Callettsburg, who rescued a girl held captive in a lonely cabin in the hills of Bond county not two hundred yards from the West Virginia state line, at midnight Tuesday night like a chapter from a lurid novel.

Complaints had reached the sheriff's office of the detention by Lewis in his cabin of a pretty but innocent girl named Flora Byrd, but twelve years old.

The story told by persons who came in from the hills is to the effect that a year ago the wife of Lewis died and he went to the home of Ben Byrd who lives in a hollow two miles distant and asked that Byrd's little daughter be allowed to live at his home for awhile as company for his aged mother.

Byrd assented with some misgiving. Since then the girl has not been allowed to go near her father's home.

According to her story she was subjected to terrible treatment by Lewis, as her condition attests. On several occasions, she says, she escaped but was always captured by Lewis before she reached the protection of her father's home.

Byrd recently went to the Lewis cabin and demanded his daughter. According to his statement he received a severe beating and the dogs were set upon him. He finally appeared at the sheriff's office late Tuesday afternoon.

Headlines that no time was to be lost Sheriff DeFord and the party started out. Their journey was up the Big Sandy valley to the head of Faulkner's branch.

Arriving within three miles of their destination they saw it would be futile to try to continue the journey in their auto. They then left their machine standing at the mouth of the hollow and started to the Lewis cabin on foot. They arrived on the hill overlooking Lewis' cabin about midnight. Sheriff DeFord descended the hill and rapped at the door of the Lewis cabin.

Lewis, after demanding who was there, carefully opened the door and Sheriff DeFord reached in and grasped his wrist. Lewis attempted to struggle but DeFord and his deputy, Mills, soon had him under control.

The girl was found in the cabin and went with the officers to Callettsburg to appear as a witness against Lewis.

The latter stated daily that he would not accompany the officers until they indulged and carried him for quite a ways and then he gave in.

Lewis was locked up at the county jail at Callettsburg and a grave charge was placed against him.

Steep overland came to one of the city's best known young women last night about ten o'clock when the hand of death claimed Mrs. Lulu Irene Potts, wife of Harold F. Potts, the financial manager of the Great Beyond coming at her home, Seventh and Chillicothe streets. Mrs. Potts was in two weeks last Tuesday and gradually grew worse. Enlargement of heart caused death. A few days after she took ill her husband was called here from a Western business trip and after remaining here a few days his wife took a change for the better. He again left to attend to business matters and was not at home when the end came to his wife. He was located late last night in Illinois.

Relatives and friends of the young woman were shocked to learn of her death and Mr. and Mrs. John Hall parents of Mrs. Potts are distracted over her sudden passing away.

Mrs. Lulu Irene Potts, daughter of John and Elizabeth Hall was born Aug. 2, 1900 on Pond Run, Nile township, this county. She was the sixth child in the family and received her early education in the rural schools. At the age of nine years her father was County Infirmary Superintendent and after four years there the family moved to Seventeenth street, this city. She completed her education in the public schools and then graduated from the Portsmouth College of Business. After completing her business college course she worked in the office of her father who was then County Clerk. For a short time she was deputy county clerk. On December 13, 1916 she was united in marriage to Harold F. Potts. After her marriage she continued in the employ of her father and worked in the county office until August, 1918.

Besides her husband and parents Mrs. Potts is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Ira Swearingin of Pond Run, Mrs. C. C. Wilbur of the West Side, Mrs. C. M. Bolander of Belmont county and a brother Leon Hall of Happy Texas. She also leaves a wide circle of friends who will greatly miss her. Mrs. Potts was a young woman of lovable character and made friends with everyone she met. She was a willing worker and was always ready to lend aid to those who were in need. She was a member of the First Christian church for several years.

The funeral will be held Saturday morning at ten o'clock from the First Christian church, with Rev. C. R. Oakley in charge. Interment in Greenlawn.

John Barlow

John Barlow, aged 63, a well known citizen of Wellston, died at his home in that city Wednesday. He leaves relatives in Scioto county.

Mrs. Harriett Prendergast

After months of suffering with complications, death at 12:10 this morning claimed Mrs. Harriett Prendergast, widow of Patrick Prendergast, the final summons coming at the home of her late brother-in-law, E. J. Kendrick, Sr., 925 Ninth street. The deceased had been seriously ill for several weeks and had been hovering between life and death for the last few days. Her loved ones were at her bedside continually, expecting the end to come at any minute.

Mrs. Prendergast was well known throughout the city, having spent the greater part of her life in Portsmouth. Her host of friends will learn of her death with genuine sorrow.

About ten days ago Mrs. Prendergast returned from Mayo Brothers' hospital, Rochester, Minn., where she underwent treatment for a short time.

No children are left to mourn the death of Mrs. Prendergast. The deceased was a member of Holy Redeemer church.

Mr. Prendergast was one of the pioneer shoemakers of Portsmouth, and will be recalled by many of the older citizens. Mrs. Prendergast was a woman of lovable traits and she will be missed.

Mrs. Prendergast was a daughter of Katherine and Edward Mulligan. She was born in Blessington, Ireland about 1847 and when still a baby was brought to this country with her parents. They settled at Cincinnati but after living there a few years, moved to Portsmouth. Mrs. Prendergast, who is the last of the family of children, was educated in the local parochial schools. About 1868 she was united in marriage to Patrick Prendergast, who died over thirty years ago. He was one of the pioneer shoemakers of Portsmouth and will be recalled by many of the older citizens.

Mrs. Prendergast was a most lovable woman. She had been a mother to John E. Kendrick and Miss Katherine Kendrick since their childhood, their mother passing away when they were quite young. She was a devoted mother to these two children who will greatly miss her kindness and words of encouragement. The deceased was known as a highly esteemed resident and was known for her many deeds of charity, ever looking out for the unfortunate. That she had a wide friendship was proven during her illness when all called to inquire about her condition.

Mrs. Katherine Kendrick, John E. Kendrick, Mrs. Nanette Kendrick, Mrs. Mary Pappas and Dr. C. C. Conroy are nieces and nephews of the deceased. Prendergast was a devout member of Holy Redeemer church and was Life partner.

I didn't have the opportunity to go to school with other men to find out whether I love him or not, my parents not allowing me to have social gatherings. I don't know what to do. I do not intend to get married for three or four years, but he thinks if you go with a gentleman for a while you are going to marry him. That isn't my idea. In my opinion a girl should pick her life partner and not take the first one that comes along.

How can I meet other men? Also please tell me how to explain to my parents how necessary it is for me to give parties and to invite friends to dinner. My parents can well afford to have entertainments.

HEART BROKEN. When a girl gets "tired" to one man it is difficult for her to break away and make other friends. Young men take it for granted that she is on guard and look for other girls.

Almost every church has a crowd of young people who are the spirit of their society. It seems to me that if you attend church gatherings you will have opportunity to meet young people and make friends.

Since your parents will not allow you to entertain at home, why don't you give a winter roast somewhere in the country. You could take about a three mile hike, build a camp fire and serve hams, vealers, coffee and marshmallows. The coffee can be cooked over the fire and the vealers and marshmallows roasted.

Some parents are unreasonable about entertaining. Of course you should have a chance, but you cannot force your parents to give you that privilege. Ask permission when they are in a good humor and do not annoy them with the request when they are not in good spirits.

Dear Miss Wise—Kindly furnish me with a few suggestions as to what I should do in making a bet with a young man whom I have known for sometime.

Great Oven Improvement

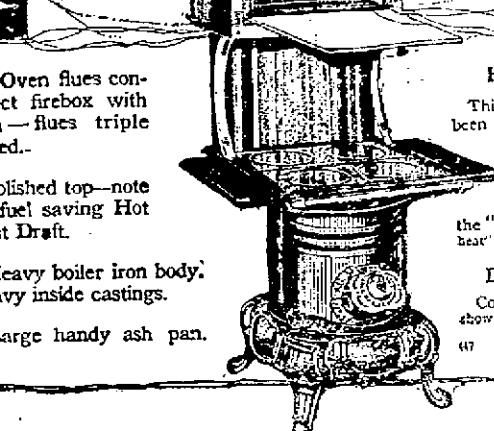

Saves Time—Saves Food—Saves Fuel

Note that heat travels completely around our high oven on 4 sides, while with common type ranges heat travels on 3 sides only. Anyone can quickly see that this big improvement in oven construction gives a much quicker and more even baking oven and that it would prove a source of big fuel economy. ATTENTION EAGLES

There will be an important meeting of River City Aerie 567 Fraternal Order of Eagles on Thursday night, Oct. 9. Matters of much importance to all members will be brought up. Our State Officers will be here. You are urged to attend. W. J. BAKER, Secretary.

One feature of our Home Craft Week display is a showing of made up drapes.

The adaptability of Sectional Craft-Lace is well illustrated in its use at French doors as well as windows.

The "Point of Interest" In Your Home

All good decoration centers in a "point-of-interest."

In the days of Greek and Roman glory, decoration centered in the household shrines to the pagan gods of the home; in Northern Europe, centuries later, wonderful and elaborate fireplaces supplied the "point-of-interest," still later, beautiful ceramic stoves served as the focal point for home decoration.

Gone are the pagan shrines and the elaborate stoves, reduced to unimportance the fireplaces. In their stead, in the modern home, we find that it is the window, the center of life, air and vision, that forms an ideal point-of-interest for the decoration of any room.

Full recognition of this supreme value of the window as the center of decoration is reflected in our splendid Home Craft Week showing of the latest drapery styles and most interesting assortments of drapery materials.

Here, for instance, are a few items:

Have You Windows of Varying Widths?

Major D. H. Crosey, was instantly killed and his observer, Sergeant Virgil Thomas, received injuries from which he is later dead when the plane in which they had left San Francisco crashed in attempting to land at Salt Lake City. Sergeant W. H. Nevitt died of injuries received when a plane in which he and Colonel Gerald Brandt were flying, fell to the ground at Deposit, N. Y. Colonel Brandt was reported to be seriously injured. Five forced landings were reported.

Lieutenant Ross Kirkpatrick came down at Vernon, N. Y., when his compass ceased to function. He received permission to return to Minnola and start again.

FOREIGN ENTRANTS OUT

Lieutenant R. J. Maughan landed at Glendale, N. Y., with motor trouble. Lieutenant Willis R. Taylor was compelled to land at Nicholson, Pa. The only foreign entrants in the race, Air Commodore L. E. O. Charlton, air attaché of the British embassy in Washington, and Captain De La Vergne, air attaché of the French embassy, were eliminated before they had an opportunity to cross the state boundary.

Commander Charlton wrecked his machine in making a forced landing at Orid, N. Y., and Captain De La Vergne was compelled to withdraw from the race when his plane burst into flames and was forced to land at Canadota, N. Y. One aviator, Lieutenant J. G. Williams, who left Minnola at 10:15 a. m. yesterday, had not been heard from this morning and some fear was felt for his safety.

Five additional entrants were scheduled to enter the race at Minnola today.

There is a story to tell of a French aviator who, after a long and arduous flight, was held up by a severe cold and was unable to continue his journey. He was held up by a severe cold and was unable to continue his journey. He was held up by a severe cold and was unable to continue his journey.

Cleveland, word was sent to Rochester at 9 o'clock this morning to stop all other west bound fliers in the coast to coast speed and reliability flight. Rain was falling and a high wind was sweeping across the course from the northwest.

WEATHER DELAYS MACHINES

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 9.—A deluge of rain, low visibility and unfavorable weather reports delayed the start, scheduled for daylight this morning of four of the eight army airplanes which landed at Glenn L. Martin field here yesterday afternoon on the fourth leg of the great transcontinental air derby from Minnola, New York, to San Francisco. The other four arrivals yesterday continued westward.

At 7 a. m. a heavy rain was falling and Lieutenant Colonel H. E. Hartney, Lieutenant Colonel T. S. Brown, Captain Harry Smith and Lieutenant J. H. Manzelman, who remained here overnight, decided to remain here until weather conditions improve.

The four fliers said they will start west as soon as the rain stops and the high wind moderates.

Lieutenant W. H. Hiler, in charge of the flight here, received a wire from Buffalo at 7:30 a. m. that nine machines, numbers 32, 14, 72, 45, 5, 108, 8 and 34, left Buffalo this morning for Cleveland and that six others were held at Buffalo.

LEADING IN RACE

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—First Lieutenant Pelvin W. Maynard, leader in the 5,400 mile transcontinental airplane race, took the air from Ashburn field here at 7:00:12 o'clock this morning. He headed for Rock Island, Ill., 155 miles away. Lieutenant Maynard, former Baptist minister, pilot in France during the war, and winner of the recent New York-Toronto air race, smashed all previous records for a New York-Chicago flight. He also made the first field between the two cities between dawn and sunset. Carrying as a passenger, Mechanician W. E. Kline, with a German pilot as co-pilot, Lieutenant Maynard drove his De Havilland 4 machine, the 513 miles from Minnola in 4:06 minutes, flying time. His elapsed time was nine hours and 27 minutes. Forty-five machines were expected to land at Ashburn field between 7

FIRST FROM BUFFALO

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 9.—Lieutenant Alex Pearson, driving machine No. 8, was the first flier to reach Glenn Martin field here from Buffalo this morning, landing at 9:07 a. m. during a heavy downpour of rain.

NARROWLY ESCAPE INJURY

CLEVELAND, O.—The second flier to land here this morning was Captain J. O. Donaldson, machine No. 59, who landed in a S. E. 5 at 9:24 from Buffalo. Lieutenant Pearson and Sergeant Royal Atkinson, in machine No. 8, had a narrow escape from injury when their machine skidded on the sloppy field when they landed.

LEAVES ON WESTERN DASH

BRYAN, O., Oct. 9.—Spurred on by news that Lieutenant B. W. Maynard had already left Chicago in the coast to coast air race, Captain H. C. Brown, in a De Havilland-4, left here on his western dash at 9:51 a. m. in a drizzling rain with heavy clouds hanging low. Either Major H. J. F. Miller or Lieutenant L. S. Webster, both driving De Havillands, were willing to take the air under conditions prevailing here. The field of Bryan is soggy.

CONDITIONS IMPROVE

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—At 9:45 a. m. Captain Hoag, commander at Ashburn field, sent a message to Bryan, field, Ohio, to start all westward airplanes from that point as soon as they are ready, as weather conditions in Chicago had sufficiently improved to make flying safe.

NEW BOSTON HAPPENINGS

Mayor Lawrence Fitch said this morning that there was no truth in the rumor that he had sworn twenty men as special policemen for the steel plant. KIDNAP OF FATHER

State Examiner Finds Miss Hilda Strong Embezzled Over $4000 At The City Hospital; Safety Directors Censured

CRIMINAL ACTION IS URGED IN REPORT

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 9.—Miss Hilda Strong, who is now said to be in France, embezzled $4,000 belonging to the city of Portsmouth, while superintendent of Hiram Hospital, a municipal institution, according to a report made today by State Examiner Joseph T. Ferguson, to Attorney General Price and State Auditor Donahoe.

Ferguson says Miss Strong, while drawing a salary of $75 a month, abstracted funds amounting to $194 a month between March 1 and June 30, 1917; $153 a month between July 1 and December 31, 1917, and $308 a month between January 1, and July 31, 1918, when "she heard the call of her country," and left for France.

Ferguson recommended that the city commence action against her, bond her to recover $1,000, the amount of her bond, and against the boardmen of the Safety Directors under whom she served—M. K. S. Clinkenbeard and George W. Sheppard—for the balance.

By a queer turn of events it is up to Safety Director Sheppard, now president of Safety county, to prosecute the woman on a charge of embezzlement.

Sheppard's bond as safety director was $3,000, but Miss Strong embezzled $3,000 during his term, Ferguson reports.

The examiner says Miss Strong destroyed charts to cover false entries; that he found 120 charts of patients for whom no entries were made on the ledger; that Miss Strong entered patients as discharged on the day they were received, when in reality they remained in the hospital for weeks, and that she marked pay patients as charity cases.

Ferguson said Dr. York reported that he treated 400 patients at Hiram Hospital while the C. & O. N. H. R. bridge was being built, and that records were found for only 90 of these.

Ferguson accused Miss Strong was guilty of "criminal embezzlement and destruction of public records."

Conditions were so deplorable during Miss Strong's regime, Ferguson says, that relatives of patients were compelled to bring them food and bed.

ASPIRIN FOR HEADACHE

Name "Bayer" is on Genuine Aspirin—say Bayer

Name "Bayer" means genuine Aspirin prescribed by physicians for nineteen years. Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets cost few cents. after a thorough search, to locate any of the charts for the months from March 1918 to July 1918, inclusive, and judging from the conditions in which the accounts were found, "we have just reason to believe that such charts as were not found, were destroyed, or ordered destroyed by Miss Hilda Strong, superintendent at the time, in order to cover up the entry into the hospital of many patients who were treated therein, as well as to cover many false and erroneous entries on the ledger accounts as to the dates of entry and discharge of many patients, whose accounts had been either omitted from the ledger entirely or juggled by her in an effort to cover up her misappropriation of public funds."

While we have not the evidence to base our claim as to the manner in which the charts were destroyed, due to the fact that we were unable to question the nurses in training at the time, yet it is our opinion that the missing charts were burned in order to prevent the discovery of her wrongdoing in the matter of appropriating the hospital collections to herself.

Regardless of whether the charts were destroyed by burning or in any other way, they are missing from the hospital, where they belong, as a part of the public records, and it is the duty of Miss Hilda Strong, superintendent, to place them back where they belong, or face a charge as provided for through the provisions of Section 33083 G. C., which reads in part as follows:

"Whoever maliciously alters, defaces, mutilates, destroys or conceals the whole or a part of a record, authorized to be made by law, or pertaining to a court, justice of the peace or a state, county, township or municipal office, or officer, or other public record authorized by law or by paper or writing duly filed with, in or by such court, office or officer, shall be fined not more than three hundred dollars or imprisoned not more than three months, or both."

As stated above, a large number of charts are missing from the hospital and in this connection we desire to state that it is our opinion that Miss Hilda Strong, superintendent, either maliciously destroyed such records, or she is maliciously concealing them in order to help cover up her discrepancy and in so doing she is violating the provisions of Section 33083 G. C., which carries with it a penalty.

Miss Hilda Strong should immediately return the missing charts to the hospital records, and if she fails to do so a warrant should be issued for her arrest.

Not only are these charts a matter of record for the hospital, but they are a very valuable record of the doctors and often referred to by them in future treatment of such patients, as well as by the Industrial Commission of Ohio in settling claims, and procedure should be brought to bear on any future superintendent of the necessity of saving and filing such records carefully by immediately bringing Miss Strong before a court of justice for her wrong doing.

In checking the charts that were found, it was disclosed in many instances that the dates of entry and the dates of discharge, as shown by the chart record, did not agree with the dates of entry and dates of discharge as shown by the ledger record. In many instances the chart record would disclose that certain patients had been discharged many days after the ledger record would so indicate, while in some instances the charts would indicate that the patient had been entered a day or two prior to the time the ledger account would so indicate, while in a large number of instances it was found that no record whatever had been made on the ledger of the entry and discharge of certain patients.

Regarding Miss Strong's acts, the examiner says:

It can be readily seen that Miss Hilda Strong deliberately made fictitious and false entries on the ledger by inserting wrong or bogus names of patients, giving fraudulent addresses, and even going so far as to make the records appear as though such patients were in the hospital upon charity. Of course, when she made the record appear as though such a patient had been in the hospital on charity, when as a matter of fact they had actually paid their account in full, she necessarily would have to insert a bogus name and address, not only for the purpose of preventing the examiner from discovering the true status of such a patient, but also to prevent it becoming public at some future time that such a party had at one time been entered in the hospital as a charity patient as indicated by the records.

In making the false entries on the records we desire to state that Miss Hilda Strong did so with the express intention of covering up the huge sum she had embezzled from the tax payers of the City of Portsmouth, in order that her wrongful acts might not be disclosed in the future and a charge brought against her whereby justice might be meted out to her. In making the fictitious entries on the records, as well as successfully destroying the chart records and operation room book, Miss Hilda Strong is guilty of misconduct in office. While she was very successful in her effort to cover up the identity of certain patients by her fraudulent entries on the ledger, yet enough of her questionable work was discovered through the investigation to warrant justice being meted out to her on a charge of criminal embezzlement and destruction of public records.

Safety Directors Are Held Liable

Regarding the liability of the safety directors, the report says: Under the provisions of Section 4370 G. C., the director of public safety shall manage and make all contracts in reference to the hospital and all other charitable institutions. In the control and supervision of such institutions, the director shall be governed by the provisions of this title relating to such institutions.

Not only does the safety director have control and supervision of such institutions under the provisions of Section 4370 G. C., but under the provisions of Section 4033 G. C., he has entire management and control of such hospital and subject to the ordinances of council, shall establish such rules for its government, and the admission of persons to its privileges, as he deems expedient.

The director of public safety is given still greater powers in the management of the hospital through the provision of Section 4369 G. C., which provides in part as follows:

"The director of public safety shall make all contracts in the name of the city with reference to the management of such departments, and the erection or repair of all buildings, or improvements in connection with, and for the purchase of all supplies necessary for such departments, subject to the restrictions imposed by law."

The word management of such departments means the municipal hospital as well as other subdepartments under the jurisdiction of the safety department.

Inasmuch as under the provisions of the above-named sections, the director of safety had full and complete control and management of the hospital, it is but just to assume and state that the conditions as existed at the hospital under the superintendency of Miss Strong were in part due to the gross carelessness and mismanagement of the director of safety under whose charge she was working in the capacity of superintendent, and the conditions as existed being due to the director's mismanagement and carelessness, it is but right that, recourse be had from their boardmen so as to insure the city from the loss sustained through their carelessness and mismanagement. While it is not known that either of the safety directors shared in one cent of the amount embezzled by Miss Hilda Strong, it was through their neglect of duty and mismanagement of the hospital that Miss Strong was able to embezzle such a large amount without being called upon the carpet to account for her collections.

I was proud of my new task and of the trust placed in me, as revealed by the two letters. I was exalted at the thought of serving my Emperor, Army and Fatherland, in a position of great responsibility at a most critical juncture.

Under the leadership of General von Moltke, I had taken part in many General Staff tours of inspection, and had there gained deep insight into the part of war on a large scale. My new position offered me an opportunity, though only in a comparatively small field of action, of proving whether I understood how to apply the teachings of that great teacher of the General Staff, General Count von Schlieffen. No soldier could have had a better chance given him. But I was deeply distressed that my appointment was the outcome of such a serious situation for my country. My patriotic feelings and heartfelt convictions spurred me to action.

Within a quarter of an hour I was in my car to Coblenz. I passed through Waare. Only the day before it had been a peaceful town. Now it was in flames. Here, also, the populace had fired on our troops. That was my farewell to Belgium.

I arrived at Coblenz at six o'clock in the evening, and immediately reported to General von Moltke, who was looking tired. Here I learned further details of the situation in the

How You May Reduce Your Weight

Overweightness is a very unpleasant condition, especially in the present day when slender figures are so popular, and every reader of this paper who has noticed a tendency to put on weight will be glad to know of a new, simple home treatment that is remarkably efficient and inexpensive.

If you happen to be one of those whose weight is more than it should be, don't try to reduce by starving yourself; eat all you want, but take after each meal and at least times five grains of Phyllo which you can secure at any drug store.

Phyllo is designed to increase the oxygen carrying power of the blood and dissolve fatty tissue. In many cases at the rate of a pound a day. It is pleasant to take and gives remarkable results quickly and easily. Fisher & Streich Pharmacy, Food & Medicine, or any drug store can supply you.

East. On August 20 the 5th Army had attacked the Russian Neman Army, under General Rennenkampf, near Gumbinnen. This offensive had, in spite of initial successes, not resulted in any decisive victory, and had to be broken off.

Since then the Army between Lake Mauer and the river Dregel was in full retreat westwards over the river Anzob and to the north of the Dregel, and the river Dregel (63 miles east of Königsberg) the first line of defense of the fortress of Königsberg. The 1st Army Corps was to be brought by rail from stations west of Insterburg to Gumbinnen, and be placed at the disposal of the Army Command, while the 2nd Reserve Division was to be taken from Anzoburg to the Allenstein-Hohenstein front (75 miles south of Königsberg) to reinforce the 20th Army Corps.

The line of lakes from Nihilakien (Lötzen) between the two Russian armies, which was only slightly fortified was in our hands; only with our forces had approached it.

General von Scholtz, commanding the 20 Army Corps, was in charge on the southern frontier of East Prussia.

von Moltke informed me that the 5th Army was proposing to evacuate the whole country east of the Vistula; only the fortresses were to remain their war positions and be defended.

The 5th Army had no doubt adopted this plan in the expectation of a speedy decision in the West, when East Prussia could be reconquered with the help of reinforcements from the West, and the invading Army driven back. This scheme had often been practised by Count von Schlieffen in strategic maneuvers. If the assumption was correct, the decision of the 5th Army to spare itself for later operations was sound.

But it did not allow for the realities of war, nor did it take into account the immense responsibility of exposing part of one's country to invasion. The amount of suffering inflicted on countries that form the actual theatre of operations, even under the most humane conditions of warfare, has once more been brought home to humanity by this world war.

As events were shaping, retreat behind the Vistula would have spelled ruin. We should not have been able to hold the Vistula line against the numerically superior forces of the Russians, and it would certainly have been impossible for us to support the Austrian Army in September; its collapse would then have followed as a matter of course. The situation, as I found it, was indeed very serious, but after all the problem was not insoluble.

Formed Strong Army for Attack.

At my request, orders were immediately sent to the East Front fixing the retreat of the main body of the 5th Army for the 23rd inst. The 1st Reserve Corps, the 37th Army Corps and

ATHENS COUNTY DOCTORS BUMP WET AMENDMENT

The Athens County Medical Association puts a crimp in the wet Initiative Petition. The wetts are trying to get Ohio voters to declare at the polls, November 4th, that Beverages containing 2.75 per cent. alcohol or less by weight are non-intoxicating. Athens County Doctors say it IS intoxicating. Why not? Beer with 2.75 per cent alcohol by weight is beer with 3.45 per cent alcohol by volume—that is, by wine or liquid measure.

That's the same old narcotic poison it always was. It will make a man drunk as a loon.

Ohio voters will not VOTE A LIE into the Constitution of this State. Every brewer in America knows Beer with 3.45 per cent alcohol in it will make a man drunk—yet the Brewery Interests are trying to get the voters of Ohio to say it will not do anything of the kind. Hit that lie between the eyes—vote "no" on the proposed wet Amendments; both will be on the short ballot.

GETTING DOWN TO BEDROCK

THE council of national defense, which is composed of five members of the cabinet, has, in view of the meeting of the national industrial conference, issued a statement, bearing on the high cost of living, that seems to have been conceived in more calmness than pronouncements heretofore had on the same subject, and therefore getting nearer to an understanding of the situation.

The reasons it sets out for abnormal advances in prices embody most of what there is to be offered as reasons: Lack of production, war waste and some profiteering.

To these might be added an unprecedented era of waste and extravagance, it is clear enough that with so much labor disturbance as are being experienced the industrial productivity is not at anything like its highest potentialities, while a lack of anything near approaching sufficient help on the farms has restricted agricultural production far below what it might have been.

At the bottom of it all may be said to be war waste. That it is that makes the insistent demand. War wasted in two ways, it increased consumption, that is it made essential the aggregating of vast supplies, in which there was a tremendous loss, and it restrained production of food stuffs and the every day requirements, of three-quarters of the earth. It does not matter that the United States and Argentina may have raised a surplus of wheat, if England, France and Italy are hungry for bread; it does not answer if Cuba and Brazil have grown bigger yields of sugar and coffee, if Germany, Austria and Poland are totally unstocked. These nations and others call insistently for more than the surplus and so the latter being unequal to demand, prices soar everywhere in proportion to that demand. That there should be profiteering, adding to the acuteness of the situation, goes without the saying. Laws and regulations may possibly help some, but there can be no real and lasting adjustment until the world peacefully and in order adjusts itself to changed conditions.

DEDUCTIONS AND THE FIGURES

A contemporary deduces that one phase of the steel strike is to send many foreigners back to their native lands. We think it arrives to this conclusion because of the reiterated statement that a majority of the strikers are foreigners, coupled with the established fact that there is going on at present a considerable migration from this country.

However, the data as prepared by the emigration bureau on this subject does not warrant its deductions. The foreigners, whose presence in the mills is being so much stressed, are generally from southeastern Europe, Poles, Austrians and Hungarians, Slovenes and Slavs. But these are not making up the bulk of emigration. To the contrary and altogether surprising, these who are turning their backs upon us in great numbers are the Italians, the Greeks, the English, the Mexicans, Japanese, French and Spaniards. None of these, with the possible exception of the Italians furnish workmen to the steel mills to any extent. The Austrians, Hungarians, Slovenes and Poles, who are leaving this country are not considerable, are indeed, inconsequential, considering the hordes of them that came here every year prior to the outbreak of the war.

THERE IS ALWAYS THE EXCEPTION

SENATOR Warren G. Harding declines to be considered as a presidential candidate. This precipitates a rather novel situation for the Republican politicians of the state, as ever since the organization of the party Ohio has had "a favorite son," who, at least, was enough of a candidate to furnish some trading capital, but Harding's refusal leaves them without even this little since no other person appears, whose name can be used without making the state a laughing stock.

Thus Harding's pulling out will cause more insistent query as to why he did. Perhaps, the answer might be found in just two words—Frank Willis. Things haven't broken well with the Senator since he was lashed out at the Chicago convention, now approaching a matter of four years ago and he can see no possibility of a presidential nomination for himself, so he wisely prefers a bird in the hand to a bigger one in the bush, knowing full well that if he went into the presidential race that moment Willis would preempt the senatorial nomination. As hearing out this interpretation it will be noted that in declining to be considered a candidate for president, Harding makes it altogether clear he will seek a re-nomination for senator.

Last night, emulating the good housewives of the neighborhood, we seized a broom and went out and swept the sidewalks clean of leaves. This morning when we got up that sidewalk had ten leaves on it for every one we swept up. No wonder a woman's work is never done, she does so darn much there isn't a bit of use doing.

If Portsmouth people do not have lots of sand—and other things—in their craws, then it isn't because of the water they drink. The supply was cut off the other day to allow a main to be repaired and when it was turned on again the quantity of grit and dirt that spluttered and splashed forth when a hydrant was opened was disturbing. It might not be a bad idea to open the street hydrants every once in a while and let the system flush itself. It needs it, that's sure.

SHE MARRIED AN AVERAGE MAN

I have been wondering for days whether to tell Jim about Eric Sands' letter, written from the military hospital at Vicksburg. I should not have hesitated a moment were it not for Jim's presence to snap-judgment. While it is not precisely a love letter, there is a tender quality to it that Jim will immediately understand. The passage, for instance, where Eric says, "To live at all I have forced myself to think of you" etc. And his reference to the freight on my "glittering copper colored hair."

But after a man has lain wounded on a battlefield for two days, amid the bodies of the killed and the moans of the dying and has fought death for weeks in a strange land, tended by alien hands, however kind, he is not in a normal condition of mind. With weak body and shattered nerves, you write—well, almost anything.

Especially a man of Eric Sands' type—the gentle, introspective student type of man.

However, I have no feeling of guilt in regard to Eric. In our brief friendship we spent more time in tramping the lovely English country than in talking love. There may have been an underlying, unspoken sentiment of tenderness, for we were both very young and just getting our first thrilling taste of life and man-and-woman comradeship. And it is very dear to me—how I should love to send something to Eric Sands this Christmas season.

I said to Jim tonight, "I have a poor little letter from him. He's been wounded in the war."

"That chap still writing to you, after he knows you're married?" asked my husband.

"He doesn't know. He didn't get my letter telling him."

"Well, then, I don't see that you can do anything but wait till he does know."

New - York - Day - By - Day

BY
O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Chatham Square is where the Bowery begins and off Chatham Square is Chinatown. The elevated rumbles around the curve overhead—smashing faced trucks underneath. And provisionally no child has ever been ground under car wheels in the square. Beefsteak John's is in Chatham Square. It used to be you could get a steak with all the trimmings, including pie and coffee, there for 10 cents but now he charges 40 cents.

Round about Chatham Square and other points just on the outskirts of Chinatown there fill into chicks and queer crevasses elements from all over the world. Elements that all levels of society have jettisoned—the misunderstood and the misunderstood and for whom there seems no other haven than the gray square of this neighboring slum of wretchedness.

These locs of the cup of life may not be pleasant, colorful or interesting to many but to me the tawdry little shops of the slums have more heart interest than Fifth Avenue or Broadway. New York, without its slums, is no different from any other city and perhaps not quite so interesting.

Writers of topical songs, of sensation and of short stories somehow draw out of the sordid shabbiness of the Chatham Square section inspiration for lurid tales of wars, carnage, pain and terrorizing and without any sweetness of character. Whereas, in sober truth, there is no spot in all New York where the grosser mantle of romance fits with more aptitude.

There are more real love affairs down on the Bowery than on Park Avenue and there are fewer dope fiends, street walkers, thieves and pickpockets in Chatham than Times Square. Life is quite earnest there.

People are more sympathetic. A wounded dog howling in a gutter would have more chances for help in Chatham Square than among the ill-mannered filth of Park and Madison Avenues.

The slums of the movies and of the fiction factory and the real life slums are distinct and strongly contrasting New York entities. It is the same with Chinatown. One emerges from the fantastic billows of opium smoke, a place of strange passions, of exotic luxury of peculiarly strong Oriental flavor and vivid colored, to learn that the real Chinatown is a hard working, progressive and law abiding community.

CAPT. LINDSEY P. JOHNS.
Capt. Lindsey P. Johns, for whose arrest in Siberia by Russian forces an apology has been forthcoming from General Harnett, commander of the Russian forces in Primorje province, is a native of Winchester, Ky.

Captain Johns and Corp. Benjamin Spierling went to Iran, a town 150 miles north of Vladivostok, on official business. While they were at a hotel there a photograph of Cossacks entered and arrested them claiming that the Americans were not provided with proper identification papers.

Captain Johns managed to escape, and, catching a moving train, he made his way to Spierling, who he reported to the American officer in command. A detachment of Americans went immediately to Iran, where they effected Spierling's release.

Captain Johns graduated from Chicago University and from the Military Academy. He at once joined the army and was sent to the Philippines, where he remained until a little more than a year ago, winning promotions until when his command was sent to Siberia he was placed in charge.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—It was slightly cloudy early today and a cool wind was blowing. Showers, with moderate temperature, was the official weather forecast, making it rather uncertain just what the weather might be at 2 o'clock when the Cincinnati Reds and Chicago White Sox were to clash in the eighth game of the world's series.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Again contender for the world's baseball championship by virtue of their 4 to 1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds yesterday, the Chicago White Sox returned to Comiskey park today to make a determined effort to draw across the field in the matter of games won at 4-1.

Recorded as virtually out of the race for premier baseball honors, when the Red Sox took the first two games of the series at the Ohio city and then won two out of three, the American League pennant winners apparently found their long best batting eyes and the two victories they have secured on successive days on foreign soil brought a return of the previous confidence in the ultimate outcome to their supporters here.

Noting that the single game to bring his team the championship, Manager Pat Moran was expected to send "Red" Eller, shineball pitcher, to the mound today in the eighth game of the series. Eller established the world's record of six successive strikeouts when he held the White Sox to three hits, and a scratch, in the game last Monday when Cincinnati won a foret.

Clude "Lefty" Williams twice defeated by the Red Sox by holding them to an aggregate of eight hits in the two games, was expected to be Manager Pat Moran's selection for mound duty.

Williams' pitching was of high order, but each time he opposed twirlers

Record Corn Crop Escapes All Dangers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The country's corn crop has "run" under the canopy of dangers that closed in during the doubtful days and nights of September, and lay into the field today October 22,000,000 bushels of ripened ears than it would have at the beginning of that month, the department of agriculture commented today in issuing the October crop report forecasting a yield of 22,000,000 bushels. Practically all of the crop has, or will, mature without frost damage, assuring high yielding values.

LABOR TRUCE PROPOSED BY BARUCH

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—A national labor truce to continue three months was proposed in a resolution offered at the industrial conference today by Bernard Baruch, chairman of the delegates representing the public. All strikes and lock-outs would terminate immediately.

Immediate arbitration of the steel strike was proposed to the conference by President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor.

A plan for labor adjustment prepared by Secretary Wilson, of the department of labor, also was presented by Mr. Baruch, while Gavin McNabb, of San Francisco, presented a resolution assented to by the public group, providing for a national arbitration board to be appointed jointly by congress and the president and to include all living representatives.

Mr. Gompers proposed that the conference appoint an arbitrator to mediate the steel strike and that the strikers return to work pending a settlement. Under the plan early group in the conference would name representatives to the board.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Attention was drawn toward steel shares at the opening of today's stock market because of yesterday's strong movement in that group. The first transaction in United States Steel comprised 4900 shares at 119 to 120 7/8 followed by a small lot at 120 3/4. Yesterday's final price, Bethlehem Steel soon lost its gain of one point and copper held within fractional advances. Oils and shipbuilding were in demand at substantial advances, also. Baltimore locomotive, United Cigars featured the specialties, rising 8 points. Steels and equipments later extended their gains.

DENNISON TERRORIZED BY NEGROES

CAMP DENNISON, CINCINNATI, Oct. 9.—This village, which during the civil war was a great mobilization center for Ohio troops, was terrorized late yesterday by three negroes, one of them a woman. The three attacked Arthur Rogers, white, when he refused to give them money. He fought desperately and the authorities say that William Davis, one of the negroes, who is caretaker at a nearby hotel club, cut Rogers' throat, inflicting a serious wound. Mrs. Rogers went to her husband's aid and the negroes forced on her. She was slightly cut. She cut into the village cemetery and hid behind a tomb stone. There were a dozen women in the village post office at the time and the negroes then began to bombard the place with rocks. The women were terrified. Postmaster Louis Varney rushed the doors and fired several shots over the heads of the negroes. An appeal for aid was telephoned to Cincinnati and six deputy sheriffs made a fast auto ride to the scene of the difficulty. At the points of the revolver, they arrested the negroes.

The officers say the negroes tried to induce the colored residents of the village to join them in an uprising against the whites, but that they refused.

The only foreign entrants in the race, Air Commodore L. E. D. Charlton, air attaché of the British embassy in Washington, and Captain De La Vergne, air attaché of the French embassy, were eliminated before they had an opportunity to cross the state boundary.

Commodore Charlton wrecked his machine in making a forced landing at Ovid, N. Y., and Captain De La Vergne was compelled to withdraw from the race when his plane burst into flames and was forced to land at Canadota, N. Y.

One aviator, Lieutenant J. G. Williams, who left Mineola at 10:45 a. m. yesterday, had not been heard from this morning and some fear was felt for his safety.

Five additional entrants were scheduled to enter the race at Mineola today.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The country's corn crop has "run" under the canopy of dangers that closed in during the doubtful days and nights of September, and lay into the field today October 22,000,000 bushels of ripened ears than it would have at the beginning of that month, the department of agriculture commented today in issuing the October crop report forecasting a yield of 22,000,000 bushels. Practically all of the crop has, or will, mature without frost damage, assuring high yielding values.

GETTING DOWN TO BEDROCK

THE council of national defense, which is composed of five members of the cabinet, has, in view of the meeting of the national industrial conference, issued a statement, bearing on the high cost of living, that seems to have been conceived in more calmness than pronouncements heretofore had on the same subject, and therefore getting nearer to an understanding of the situation.

The reasons it sets out for abnormal advances in prices include most of what there is to be offered as reasons: lack of production, war waste and some profiteering.

To these might be added an unprecedented era of waste and extravagance. It is clear enough that with so much labor disturbances as are being experienced the industrial productivity is not at anything like its highest potentialities, while a lack of anything near approaching sufficient help on the farms has restricted agricultural production far below what it might have been.

At the bottom of it all may be said to be war waste. That it is, that makes the insistent demand. War wasted in two ways, it is increased consumption, that is it made essential the aggregating of supplies, in which there was a tremendous loss, and a restrained production of food stuffs and the every day requirements, of three-quarters of the earth. It does not matter that the United States and Argentina may have raised a surplus of wheat, if England, France and Italy are hungry for bread; it does not answer it if Canada and Brazil have grown bigger yields of sugar and coffee, if Germany, Austria and Poland are totally unstocked. These nations and others call insistently for more than the surplus and so the latter being unequal to demand, prices soar everywhere in proportion to that demand. That there should be profiteering, adding to the acuteness of the situation, goes without the saying. Laws and regulations may possibly help some, but there can be no real and lasting adjustment until the world peaceably and in order adjusts itself to changed conditions.

DEDUCTIONS AND THE FIGURES

A contemporary deduces that one phase of the steel strike is to send many foreigners back to their native lands. We think it arrives to this conclusion because of the reiterated statement that a majority of the strikers are foreigners, coupled with the established fact that there is going on at present a considerable migration from this country.

However, the data as prepared by the emigration bureau on this subject does not warrant its deductions. The foreigners, whose presence in the mills is being so much stressed, are generally from southeastern Europe, Poles, Austrians and Hungarians, Slovenes and Slavs. But these are not making up the bulk of emigration. To the contrary and altogether surprising, these who are leaving their backs upon us in great numbers are the Italians, the Greeks, the English, the Mexicans, Japanese, French and Spaniards. None of these, with the possible exception of the Italians furnish workmen to the steel mills to any extent. The Austrians, Hungarians, Slovenes and Poles, who are leaving this country are not considerable, are indeed, inconsequential, considering the hordes of them that came here every year prior to the outbreak of the war.

THERE IS ALWAYS THE EXCEPTION

SENATOR Warren C. Harding declines to be considered as a presidential candidate. This precipitates a rather novel situation for the Republican politicians of the state, as ever since the organization of the party Ohio has had "a favorite son," who, at least, was enough of a candidate to furnish some trading capital, but Harding's refusal leaves them without even this little since no other person appears, whose name can be used without making the state a laughing stock.

Thus Harding's pulling out will cause more insistent query as to why he did. Perhaps, the answer might be found in just two words—Frank Willis. Things haven't broken well with the Senator since he was flattened out at the Chicago convention, now approaching a matter of four years ago and he can see no possibility of a presidential nomination for himself, so he wisely prefers a bird in the hand to a bigger one in the bush, knowing full well that if he went into the presidential race that moment Willis would preempt the senatorial nomination. As hearing out this interpretation it will be noted that in declining to be considered a candidate for president, Harding makes it altogether clear he will seek a re-nomination for senator.

Last night, emulating the good housewives of the neighborhood, we seized a broom and went out and swept the sidewalks clean of leaves. This morning when we got up that sidewalk had ten leaves on it for every one we swept up. No wonder a woman's work is never done, she does so darn much there isn't a bit of use doing.

If Portsmouth people do not have lots of sand—and other things—in their craws, then it isn't because of the water they drink. The supply was cut off the other day to allow a main to be repaired and when it was turned on again the quantity of grit and dirt that spluttered and splashed forth when a hydrant was opened was disturbing. It might not be a bad idea to open the street hydrants every once in a while and let the system flush itself. It needs it, that's sure.

SHE MARRIED AN AVERAGE MAN

I have been wondering for days whether to tell Jim about Eric Sands' letter, written from the military hospital at Vicksburg. I should not have hesitated a moment were it not for Jim's pronouncement to compunction. While it is not precisely a love letter, there is a tender quality to it that Jim will immediately understand. The passage, for instance, where Eric says, "To live at all I have forced myself to think of you" etc. And his reference to the firelight on my "glittering copper colored hair."

But after a man has lain wounded on a battlefield for two days, amid the bodies of the killed and the moans of the dying and has fought death for weeks in a strange land, tended by alien hands, however kind, he is not in a normal condition of mind. With weak body and shattered nerves, you write—well, almost anything.

Especially a man of Eric Sands' type—the gentle, introverted student type of man.

However, I have no feeling of guilt, in regard to Eric. In our brief friendship we spent more time in tramping the lovely English country than in making love. There may have been an underlying, unspoken sentiment of tenderness, for we were both very young and just getting our first thrilling taste of life and man-and-woman comradeship. And it is very dear to me—How I should love to send something to Eric Sands this Christmas season!

I said to him tonight, "I have a poor little letter from him. He's been wounded in the war."

"That chap still writing to you, after he knows you're married?" asked my husband.

"He doesn't know. He didn't get my letter telling him."

"Well, then, I don't see that you can do anything but wait till he does know."

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Chatham Square is where the Bowery begins and off Chatham Square is Chinatown. The elevated runbles around the curve overhead—garage-faced children of all breeds play on the car tracks underneath. And providentially no child has ever been ground under car wheels in the square. Bowery John is in Chatham Square. It used to be the rendezvous of the city's bad boys, could get a drink with all the trimmings, including gin and coffee, there for 10 cents but now he charges 40 cents.

Round about Chatham Square and other points just on the outskirts of Chinatown there filter into clinics and queer crevasses elements from all over the world. Elements that all levels of society have, jostled the misunderstanding and the misunderstanding and for whom there seems no other haven than the gray spangles of this neighboring sink of wretchedness.

These leeches of the cup of life may not be pleasant, colorful or interesting to many but to me the tortuous little streets of the slums have more heart interest than Fifth Avenue or Broadway. New York, without its slums, is no different from any other city and perhaps not quite so interesting.

Oh Boy "Shagging" For Squires Must Cease

How W. R. Mabe, farmer, of Haverhill, secured possession of his 2-year-old child at the point of a gun and escaped into West Virginia with the child Tuesday night, was revealed in police court this morning when Mabe was arraigned before Mayor Kaps on a charge of gun-toting.

Mabe and his wife have been separated since Sept. 15 last, when she and her child came to reside with her brother, Andrew G. Armbrister, grocer, at 1219 Lincoln street.

About dusk Tuesday evening Mabe showed up at the Armbrister home and asked to see the child for the last time, as he expected to leave. His request was granted, and upon the child being handed to him, after kissing and embracing the child, placed his left arm about her body, and with his right hand drew a pistol and backed from the room, all the time pointing the weapon at A. G. Armbrister and declaring "I've got her," according to the testimony of Armbrister in court this morning.

Mabe disappeared with the child and it was later learned that he entered a taxi cab which was waiting around the corner and in the machine proceeded to Haverhill, where he crossed the Ohio river and took a C. & O. train for Charleston. He was arrested in the West Virginia capital yesterday and Sheriff Ricey brought the prisoner and child here this morning. The child was immediately restored to its anxious mother.

After hearing the testimony of several witnesses Mayor Kaps reserved his decision until later, and in the meantime an examination as to the mental condition of the defendant will be made.

HERE ON FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Dr. McMiller's Clinic will be open Friday and Saturday to clear up all cases of Trachoma that are still un-cured. Patients are urged to bring their children as this will probably be the last chance to benefit by the clinic for some time. If you put it off longer you will regret it, do not let your children suffer, bring them in now.

Regarding the best work the following letter has been received:

Mr. D.W. S. GRIFFIN,
Director Bureau of Communicable Disease

Portsmouth, Ohio.

My Dear Mr. GRIFFIN:

I have your letter of October 1 addressed to Dr. McMiller. I have not fully determined what arrangement will be made in Portsmouth for the care of occasional cases of trachoma, but a full-time trachoma physician will soon be added to our staff. In addition, we may be able to arrange with Dr. McMiller to establish a trachoma hospital somewhere in your district. As soon as this matter has been decided, I will let you know.

I am more pleased than I can be in regard to the success of the trachoma clinic. I feel that your assistance and co-operation have been important factors contributing towards this end. We all feel very grateful towards your Bureau. I am looking forward to paying you another visit as soon as I can get time.

Very Cordially yours,
